FOUNDATIONS:

Judd Foundation

432.729.4406

104 S. Highland Ave.

www.juddfoundation.org

Judd Foundation's mission is to maintain and preserve Donald Judd's permanently installed living and working spaces, libraries, and archives in New York and Marfa, Texas. The Foundation aims to promote a wider understanding of and appreciation for Judd's artistic legacy by facilitating public access to these spaces and resources and by developing scholarly and educational programs.

La Mansana de Chinati/The Block

Daily, 11am–12:30pm and Thursday–Sunday from 4:30pm–5:45pm
$25 per person, $12.50 for students and seniors with valid ID

La Mansana de Chinati, Judd's residence and studio in Marfa, informally known as "The Block," is the site of some of the artist's first large-scale architectural projects. Guided visits provide access to Judd's three main studios, which are permanently installed with his early work, and his personal library, which houses his collection of over 13,000 books. Visits to The Block begin promptly at 4:30pm at the entrance of La Mansana de Chinati, located at 400 West El Paso Street, across from the Godbold feedmill plant.

The Studios

Friday and Saturday, 1:30–3:15pm

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 2:00–3:45pm

$25 per person, $12.50 for students and seniors with valid ID

Guided visits provided access to a selection of Judd's downtown spaces, including the Architecture Studio, Art Studio, and the Cobb and Whyte Houses. These spaces contain furniture by Donald Judd, as well as his early paintings from the 1960s. There is also an extensive collection of modernist and period furniture, as well as works by other prominent 20th century artists and designers. Guided visits start at the Judd Foundation offices, 104 South Highland Avenue, south of the railroad tracks, across the street from the Hotel Saint George.

Big Bend National Park // 432.477.2251

www.nps.gov/bibe/index.htm

If you have enough time, make the two-hour journey from Marfa to this national park (an overnight journey is ideal; if you go one day, you'll wish you'd gone two). Trails are relatively well documented in the various guide books available, and in the park literature. A few popular favorites: Lost Mine Trail, Window Trail, South Rim Trail/Boot Spring, Hot Springs Trail, Santa Elena Canyon, and Boquillas (but only if you have your passport).

Big Bend State Ranch // 432.358.4444, 1900 Saucedo Ranch Road, Presidio, TX

www.tpwd.texas.gov/state-parks/big-bend-ranch

A bit more obscure than Big Bend National Park, Big Bend Ranch State Park is closer and offers more lowland delights. Plus, the ride along the River Road from Terlingua to Presidio is well worth it. Closed Canyon is on the road, too, another easy one hour (more or less) hike down a lovely slot canyon.

Chinati Hot Springs // 432.229.4165

www.chinatihotsprings.net/

An oasis nestled in the Chinati Mountains of West Texas, Chinati Hot Springs has provided healing waters to the people of the area for thousands of years. From Marfa, the journey is about 2.5 hours, and a high-clearance vehicle is recommended.

Chihuahuan Desert Research Institute // 432.364.2499, 43869 St. Hwy 118

(4 miles SE of Fort Davis)

www.cdri.org

Monday through Saturday, 9am–5pm

The Chihuahuan Desert Research Institute is a nonprofit organization 30 minutes north of Marfa, which offers a peaceful desert botanical garden, geology and mining exhibits, canyon views, and over three miles of hiking trails.

Marfa Gliders // 1.800.667.9464
