Halloween may be over, but Sofia Coppola will be honored at a Tuesday gala that's bound to include some wild outfits, we hear.

For its 15th anniversary, art organization Ballroom Marfa will celebrate Coppola at a spaghetti-Western-themed gala in NYC, where the dress code will be "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly."

Prizes will be handed out for best interpretation of the theme, and hosts will include Allison Sarofim, Rainer Judd and Lauren and Andrés Santo Domingo.
